Data Protection

In alignment with the Data Protection law, Hollard Insurance Company of Botswana (“Hollard”, “we” or “us”), is the data controller of your personal data (“data”). The Data Subject (“you”, “I”) must read and sign the clauses below as a way to consent for the collection and processing of your personal data.

Data Use

I hereby declare that I am voluntarily providing my personal data to Hollard to process my claim. I understand that my personal data will be used solely for this purpose, including the necessary steps to assess, process, and manage the claim.

Data Sharing

I acknowledge and consent that Hollard may share my personal data with third parties involved in processing my claim. These third parties include, but are not limited to insurance brokers, agents, risk consultants, loss assessors, panel beaters, reinsurers, record keeping service providers and other relevant parties essential to the administration of my policy.

Hollard is authorised to transfer my personal data to relevant recipients with domiciles outside Botswana. I understand that in the case of transmission of personal data to third countries Hollard shall have sufficient control mechanisms for their protection, including the analysis relevant to the protection of such third country and/or, as the case maybe, the conclusion of a standard contractual clause on protection of personal data approved by the Information and Data Protection Commission.

Retention of Data

Hollard will keep your data for a period not less than 20 years in compliance with the Financial Intelligence Act 2022 and amended from time to time. When your data is no longer required it will be securely destroyed, but some data can be indefinitely archived for historical records.

Data Subjects Rights

You, the data subject, are entitled to specific rights regarding your personal data. Hollard is dedicated to upholding these rights and ensuring that data subjects have control over how their personal data is managed.

- The right to request access to their personal data and receive information on how it is processed.
- The right to request corrections to any inaccuracies in your personal data.
- The right to request the deletion of personal data.
- The right to request limitations on how personal data is processed.
- The right to obtain and reuse your personal data across different services.
- The right to object to particular processing activities, including direct marketing.
- The right to not to be subject to decisions based solely on automated processing, including profiling, if such decisions carry legal or significant effects.

All requests from data subjects will be addressed promptly, in line with the timelines mandated by the Data Protection law. These rights are not absolute, and Hollard may be entitled to refuse requests where there is reasonable and valid reason to do so. The reasons will be communicated to you in writing.
